

DAYTON CHEMIST COMPLETES HIS EXAMINATION

DR HOCHWALT'S REPORT SHOWS THAT ASSAULT IN GILMAN MURDER WAS MADE.

IT WILL QUIET MANY RUMORS

David Curtis is Discharged, But He May Be Rearrested in Dayton Soon.

Dayton, O., Dec. 15.—Not the slightest doubt now remains that Dona Gilman was the victim of an assailant. Dr. Hochwalt, chemist, to whom was submitted the fluid and excretions taken from the body of the dead girl, reported today that he has completed an exhaustive microscopic examination and that it showed an assault was committed. This report will furnish one of the strongest bits of evidence in the case, and will absolutely quiet the multiple rumors which have so long been current. Science proves that Dona Gilman was assaulted and strangled to death.

Arguments in the case of David Curtis, charged with the murder of Dona Gilman, began before Magistrate Terry at 9 o'clock today. Attorney Charles Eliff opened for the state.

"As to the date and place of the commission of this crime, there is no doubt," said Eliff. He then took up the positive testimony that assault was committed. He touched upon rumors which he said "do not concern this court. This man Curtis stands before this court perfectly sane and the confessed murderer."

CURTIS RELEASED MAY BE REARRESTED

(Bulletin.)

Dayton, Dec. 15.—David Curtis, who was dismissed by Magistrate Terry today after the preliminary hearing, may be re-arrested charged with the murder of Dona Gilman as soon as an affidavit can be prepared before Police Judge Sullivan. This will be the instructions of Prosecutor Nevin.

Magistrate Terry, when he released Curtis, did not know that the microscopic examination proved an assault in the case. He was informed of it immediately after the case was dismissed by Dr. Ewing and expressed amazement. In summing up the case, Terry said the testimony of Collins Gilman that Dona's arm was extended when the body was found, tended to show that the body was placed on the commons after death. Dr. Ewing stated to the magistrate that a person dying of strangulation succumbed to distortion of the body and this accounted for the position of the arm. Terry dwelt upon the conflict of time in the case, after stating that an assault was not established to his satisfaction. "The state failed to prove probable guilt and the defendant is discharged from custody," said "Squire Terry."

KAISER WILLIAM SAYS BERLIN IS TOO SOCIALISTIC

REMEMBERING SLIGHT GIVEN
HIS LAST ROYAL VISITOR
KING FREDERICK.

HAARON GOES TO POTSDAM

The Kaiser Declares That He Can No Longer Receive His Friends in the Capital.

Berlin, Dec. 15.—Remembering the slight given his last royal visitor, King Frederick of Denmark, by the people of Berlin, and not desiring to submit other guests to similar discourtesy, Kaiser William today received King Haakon and Queen Maud of Norway, who are in Germany for a few days, at Potsdam. Arrangements for a reception at Berlin were cancelled but there were plenty of festivities at Potsdam.

King Frederick was coolly received on his recent visit. The burgomaster who tried to do the honors of the occasion fittingly, was afterward bitterly denounced. Public meetings were held to protest against the "sycophantic servility." Kaiser William declared the capital is becoming too socialistic and is permeated with revolutionary theories to such an extent that he can no longer receive his friends there.

OFFICIALS OF FRENCH CHURCHES BEING OUSTED

BISHOP OF ARRAS IS EXPELLED FROM HIS PALACE AFTER PROTEST.

SEMINARY INMATES EXPELLED

Council of Ministers Frames Bill for Carrying Out Separation Law
in France.

Paris, Dec. 15.—Today the police are taking steps to oust the church officials and prelates from the bishopric seminaries and other church buildings. Cardinal Lecat was notified by a prefect of Bordeaux to leave the arch episcopal palace within eight days. The bishop of Arras was expelled from his palace last night. After protesting he yielded only to force. Immediately following his expulsion the police drove out the inmates of the great seminary of Arras. It was necessary to break in the doors as the seminarists had barricaded themselves inside. They were finally expelled after a protest similar to that of the bishop. The cabinet has decided to only regard bishops as foreign functionaries, open to expulsion in case systematic, concerted opposition to the separation law on their part is made evident.

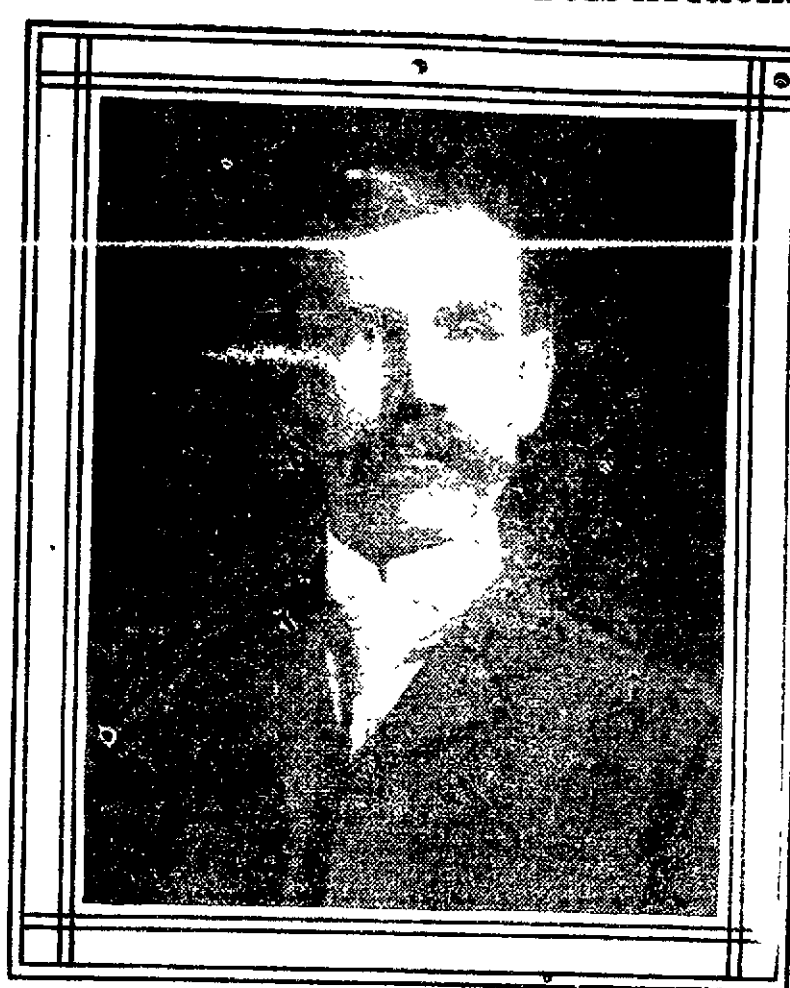

The Eclair today says official denial was made at the archbishopric of the report circulated last night that at a consultation of prelates held yesterday it was decided that declarations for churches, to permit holding of religious service by laymen could be made. The council of ministers at a meeting today framed a bill containing ten articles for carrying out the separation law, not offering a means for Catholics to continue their public worship. The measure will be submitted to parliament tonight.

(An interview with Cardinal Gibbons on the grave situation in France is published on page 1, of the second section of this paper.)

SIX DAY RACE ENDS TONIGHT IN NEW YORK

TEN TEAMS ENGAGING IN BIG STRUGGLE WHICH WAS FAR-CICAL YESTERDAY.

BELGIAN TEAM QUIT TODAY

Bobby Walthour Says He Would Withdraw But Is Afraid He Would Be Called Quitter.

Madison Square Garden, New York, Dec. 15.—The six day bicycle race ends tonight, and today the riders are flying about the dishpan circle in a wild sprint to win. Ten teams are engaging in the heart breaking struggle which yesterday had lapsed into a farce. The contest will close at 10 minutes past 10 o'clock tonight, and promptly at 10 the teams that are one lap behind will be ordered from the track and the best sprinters of the teams that are tied for the lead will race for the honors.

Vanderstuf and Stol, the Belgian team withdrew from the race today. Vanderstuf was suffering from injuries. Galvin and Wiley also quit.

Bobby Walthour said today he would withdraw from the race but feared he would be called a quitter if he did so. Walthour believes that he has been repeatedly robbed by the officials who declined eight times to score a lap that Walthour had apparently made up by fast sprinting. Walthour was the popular favorite today. Many wagers were made that before the day was over Walthour would be up with the leaders ready to go out in front in the last dash for the prize. Several riders were given strychnine and wine today.

Walthour and Bedelt made another desperate attempt shortly after 10 this morning to gain the much coveted lap held against them. The attempt was unsuccessful and at its conclusion Walthour entered a protest with Referee Kelsey claiming that Downey and Moran had forced him up the bank. Kelsey warned the riders that any attempt to interfere with another rider would result in fine and dismissal from the race.

131st hour—score at 11 o'clock today: All teams 2,115 miles 5 laps except Walthour and Bedelt, 2,115 miles and 4 laps; Breton and Samuelson, 2,115 miles and 4 laps. Record 2,512 miles and 2 laps, made by Miller and Waller in 1899.

QUAINT KEY

Found on the Body, Placed in Potter's Field May Show Decedent Is a Rich Ohioan.

Philadelphia, Dec. 15.—What is probably the body of George F. Long, member of a wealthy family of Bryan, Ohio, will be exhumed from a grave in Camden's potter's field today. A cousin of George Long—Dr. Long—arrived in Camden from Ohio and identified a key of unusual design, taken from the pocket of the deceased, who was killed by a train at Stratford, N. J., on August 30 last.

George Long quarreled with his wife, it is said, and mysteriously disappeared from Bryan in July. As it was feared that he had met death articles were published in several papers describing the man and his personal belongings. These came to the notice of Mrs. B. Buck, a local detective, and when Coroner Kirk, of Camden, recently showed her the quaint key she at once recognized it as probably belonging to George F. Long, and the family in Bryan, Ohio, was notified.

Dr. Long said that he had little doubt the body is that of his cousin. If it is it will be transported to Bryan.

Postmaster-General Cortelyou, also chairman of the Republican National committee, who has been promoted again by President Roosevelt to the Secretary of the Treasury, is styled by The New York Press as "the receiver of stolen insurance funds." This is pretty plain talk by a Republican newspaper.

Congress will probably adjourn from December 20 to January 7. Our congress shows superb respect for Christmas; then, anyway, the long rest is necessary following receipt of the President's message. From January 7 to March 4 there will be found little time, of course, for legislation needed by the people and which may be particularly offensive to the trusts.

The National House of Representatives, by a very decided vote, has shown its disapproval of the President's attempt to introduce the new spelling into public documents. It has decided that the old spelling shall be retained in documents issued from the Government printing office. Certainly the present generation of statesmen are not likely to aid this so-called reform. They have all had a more or less difficult time learning the old way of spelling, and are generally too advanced in years to take kindly to so many changes. Another generation may look more kindly upon the efforts of the spelling reformers. Meanwhile everybody is at liberty in his own writings to form words as he chooses, and thanks to the reformers, it will not be apparent whether he knows how to spell or is a follower of the new idea.

CHILD LABOR IS BEING DISCUSSED

SENATOR BEVERIDGE OF INDIANA CHIEF SPEAKER AT THE GATHERING.

New Secretary Board Public Works—Important Details of Ohio Law Codification.

Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—At the national conference on child labor held in Cincinnati, Professor E. A. Jones, state school commissioner, delivered the address of welcome in behalf of Governor Harris, who could not be present. Professor Jones was one of the Ohio delegates named by the governor, the others being J. H. Morgan, chief inspector of factories; George Harrison, chief mine inspector; M. D. Hatchford, state labor commissioner, and H. H. Shiner, secretary of the board of state charities. Besides the address by Professor Jones, one of the principal addresses was on "Child Labor Laws of Ohio Valley States," by Mr. Morgan, who has been promoting the movement against child labor to the utmost of his official capacity, as evidenced by the numerous prosecutions pending in various sections of the state. Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State university, also addressed the conference on "Child Labor and the Public Schools." The principal address was by Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, who introduced the child labor bill in the senate backed by the conference, the merits of which he analyzed. There were other speakers of national repute. The Beveridge bill was indorsed by the conference.

SENATOR ALBERT J. BEVERIDGE OF INDIANA.

Joseph W. Cable of Toledo was chosen by the state board of public works to succeed W. E. Thompson of Ironton, who resigned the position of secretary of the board some time ago on account of ill health. Mr. Thompson is a brother of the incoming secretary of state, C. A. Thompson. Since his retirement his work was performed by Charles W. Diehl of Cambridge, the assistant secretary. The selection of the new secretary was a complete surprise to the attaches of the board. Cable is about 35 years old, was formerly court reporter at Toledo, but more recently was engaged in securing rights of way for interurban electric lines in the northwestern part of the state, which brought him into frequent contact with the board.

When Governor Harris named J. E. Campbell, former governor, for one of the members of the commission to codify the state laws, he is said to have heaped coals of fire on the head of the erstwhile "Butler mascot." When Campbell was governor, so the story goes, one of the first things he did after his inauguration was to rededicate the resignation of General Harris, who was a trustee of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home at Xenia. The reason for it was political, not personal. In those days there were only four members of the board of trustees of each of the state institutions, and always three trustees belonged to the majority party and one to the minority. So, to get control of the Xenia home, Campbell appointed a Democrat in place of that one of the three Republican trustees whose term expired that year, and also removed Harris, another of the Republican trustees, and put a Democrat in his place. In this way he turned the institution over to the Democrats. Nowadays, when there are five trustees, divided politically three to two, and with one trustee retiring each year, it is not so often necessary to take drastic measures to bring about a change in the political complexion of these boards. Secretary of State Laylin, who was fully as much taken by surprise as was the rest of the world by the appointment of former Governor Campbell to serve with him on the state codifying commission, was a member of the house when Campbell was governor and was one of the influential Republicans who went to the aid of the administration. Campbell found he could not count on all the Democratic members to support his plan, for which he summoned an extra session, of ousting the board of public affairs in Cincinnati, and it would have failed had not Republican members, who were only one to his assistance.

members of this commission from a list of 87 lawyers, whose names were submitted to him. It was known almost from the first that Laylin would be one of the three men to be chosen. The other Republican member, Judge Hiram L. Sibley of Marietta, is a civil war veteran, 70 years old, and has served on the common pleas and circuit court bench.

Governor Campbell is 60 years old, and served in the navy during a part of the civil war. Laylin is the youngest member of the commission, being 38 years old. He formerly represented Huron county in the legislature, and was speaker of the house in 1892. The commissioners will begin their work Jan. 1, and as they are to report at the next meeting of the legislature, they will have at least two years to serve, at a salary of $3,000 each per year. The commission is also allowed $10,000 for clerk hire and expenses.

This codifying commission is to cover a wider scope than any heretofore created. During the McKinley administration a commission codified the insurance laws, but no action followed. Another commission was appointed by Governor Bushnell under an act passed in 1898 to codify the municipal laws. That commission consisted of Judge Kibler of Newark and Judge Pugh of Columbus. After working two years they submitted a document about a foot thick comprehending a codified revision of municipal laws. It was presented to the legislature in 1900, but the statesmen merely looked at it and ordered it placed on file. The municipal code that ensued was created during a special session in 1902 without an intermediary commission, although Wade H. Ellis, the present attorney general, had much to do with its construction.

Under the act creating this new commission, which originated in the state senate at the session this year through a bill introduced by Senator Joseph E. Sites of Lancaster, the commissioners are to devote their whole time to the work. They are to bring together the different statutes bearing on the same subjects, to omit redundant and obsolete sections, to make the statutes harmonize with the constitution, to reconcile contradictions, supply omissions, to make doubtful parts read in clear and strong language for what is equivocal or ambiguous and to eliminate what is circuitous or tautological. The whole is to be arranged in suitable divisions, chapters, sections, titles, heads, etc. The commission is to make 500 copies of its report, a copy to be given to each member of the legislature, for his consideration with a view to the enactment of the whole report, to constitute the latest revised statutes of Ohio. The members of the commission are to have at all times free access to the records of all state departments. They are authorized to employ such clerks and stenographers as the governor may deem proper, and must render an account to the governor of the funds spent for this service.

Two of the clerks in the office of Secretary Laylin are candidates for clerkships with the codifying commission. One of them is Edward D. Howard of Columbus, former state senator, and the other is Charles R. Brewer of Bowling Green.

M. D. Hatchford, state labor commissioner, has completed the tabulation of industrial statistics to be incorporated in his annual report, which show enormous increases in the amount paid for wages, and the capital invested in manufacturing in Ohio in 1905 as compared with 1904. With 306,155 male employees on a monthly average, the gain over 1904 was 37,439. There were 57,683 women employed, a gain of 4,121. The total of 35,467 superintendents, salesmen and office employees, was a gain of 2,969. The amount of capital invested in buildings, grounds and machinery was $449,702,183, a gain of $43,869,561. Value of goods manufactured, $873,695,493.60, gain $152,035,850.85. Amount paid for taxes, rent and insurance $13,344,741.29, gain $798,853.70. Paid in wages, $189,977,399.23, gain $25,660,464.32. Paid superintendents, salesmen and office help, $38,508,446.16, gain $2,329,046.96. Number affected by advance in wages, 56,106, gain 23,738. Number affected by reduced wages, 2,600, decrease 18,722.

H. H. Shiner, secretary of the state board of charities and corrections, in his annual report to the governor, makes special mention of a fact which illustrates how state institutions may be made useful to each other and to state officials. The bulletins of the board are now printed by the prisoners in the state reformatory at Mansfield, and Mr. Shiner says the work is done better than when it was let to private concerns. The total expense of the board for the year was $6,254.

Based on reports received so far it is calculated at the state auditor's office that 9,750 Ohio saloons will continue permanently in business and pay the annual $1,000 Aikin law. If the expectation is fulfilled, saloon people will surprise themselves as well as state officials. There is a net loss of approximately only 200 saloons from the number which attempted to operate, despite the increase in the annual tax from $350 to $1,000. When the Aikin law went into effect six months ago there was an immediate reduction of 2,978 saloons. Since then there has been a further reduction of 2,000. Of these 31,728 saloons, 21,728 since the second semi-annual census.

THIS AND THAT

The enterprising merchants of Newark are making their statements about their Christmas offerings in the Advocate. Don't worry about what you shall give. Read the "ads" Plenty of hints there.

It's to be expected, of course, that occasionally you will come upon one of the fellows who doesn't take any stock in Santa Claus. This world is full of all kinds of people. One could not appreciate himself at his true worth were it not for an occasional contrast.

Newark stores never looked more inviting than they do now. Shelves and counters are loaded to the limit with the prettiest Christmas things in the market.

It is apparent that the revised football rules have not hurt the game very much. There were only two less players killed this year than last.

Again the weatherman should realize that if it won't profit the small boy to get a pair of skates from Santa Claus if there is nothing on which to use them.

Call a youth of 21 a boy and he resents it, but when you call a semi-centenarian a boy you tickle him half to death. If you doubt it, try it.

If you are wise you will buy your Christmas presents at once—and avoid the rush that will be on in a few days.

A little snow would liven things up for the holiday season.

Unless the weather man gives the snow lever a shake or two pretty soon, it will be mighty hard pulling for old Santa Claus' reindeer. Anyway, Powers-Miller Co.'s Santa is coming in an air ship. Have you seen him?

Husbands should bear in mind that the time in which to lay in a supply of cigars is daily growing shorter.

And especially will it be the part of wisdom to do your Christmas shopping early if you are looking for a nice, fat hen turkey.

This is the season of the year when the Sunday school census will show a greater population of "good" little boys and girls than at any other time.

When your letters are advertised by the postoffice department as uncalled for, then it is plain that you are no longer a prominent resident.

A good many girls are asking what the boys like for Christmas, which is an indication that there is to be something doing.

The postman will shortly expect a little something from you, though he may not consider it proper for him to ask for it.

The spirit of Christmas is all right, but do not allow it to carry you beyond your means.

All indications point toward the usual large crop of Christmas weddings.

Hardly seems a holiday season without sleigh bells.

NO ANONYMOUS LETTERS PASS NOW

EVELYN ANDERSON DOES NOT EXPECT TO RETURN TO PERRY CO. HOME.

After Finishing Her Jail Sentence—Her Aged Father Crushed by Her Conviction.

New Lexington, O., Dec. 15.—Evelyn Anderson is now in prison and the anonymous letter writing in this locality has ceased.

Since the arrest of Miss Anderson last week there has not been a single one of the mysterious epistles passed through the mails.

The father, William Anderson, 81 years of age, is rapidly declining as if crushed by a heavy burden.

It comes on good authority that Eva Anderson is supposed to have said that she will never return to her former home, now that she has disgraced it, but after serving her jail sentence she will go out into the world and seek a livelihood.

Evelyn Anderson, the misguided young woman whose love for a young man, Russell Watson, of New Concord, led her into the indiscretion of writing obscene letters and sending them through the mails, was found guilty in the United States court, as already announced in the Advocate.

It was Miss Anderson's stubbornness that got her the jail sentence, and Judge Thompson in passing sentence, frankly told her so. It was the desire of the court to inflict a fine.

Selecting Christmas Gifts

It is often so hard to decide upon a suitable Christmas gift that half the pleasure of giving is taken away.

Suppose you turn from the things that give only temporary pleasure and give a bank book with the first deposit in a savings account duly recorded.

If you will come in it will be a pleasure to show you how easily you can open a savings account in the name of anyone—your boy or girl, wife or husband—in whose future you are interested.

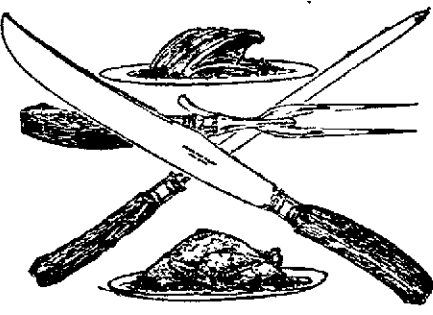

A savings account here may be opened with as large or small amount as you please.

Stockholm, Sweden, Dec. 15.—Crown Prince Gustav has arrived from Berlin, and assumed the regency, which he will hold during his father's illness.

King Oscar's condition shows considerable improvement. The bulletin issued says:

"King Oscar passed a quiet day. He slept for four hours. The action of his heart is more regular. His temperature is 100.9 Fahrenheit. The phlegm in the trachea is still troublesome but the appetite is fairly good."

His majesty's condition, however, is still extremely serious, and it is under-

HOLIDAY STAPLE.

'Would suggestion
Of the question,
Gentle reader,
Be too rash—
Did you ever
Eat that clever Compound that is Known as hash?

For some reason
At the season
Of the joyous Holidays
It is ready
As a steady Diet every-Where we gaze.

Past believing
That the leaving
Of a gay and Joyous feast
Would be greeting
Us as eating.
For a week to Say the least.

At Thanksgiving
Some misgiving,
Like a lost
Election bet,
Haunts the shanty—
It's the auto
Of the hash we're Going to get.

Useless dodging
This hodgepodge
Of the feast of Yesterday.
Supper, dinner,
Lunch, the dinner
From it cannot Get away.

And They Never Miss It.

"Do you know why women step off a street far backward?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"To reach the ground."

Boni's Troubles.

Poor little Boni is certainly having things thrown at him.

With sarcastic Americans offering him all kinds of jobs from press agent to head waiter, life must be about as much of a burden to him as it is to a Russian prefect of police at the present time.

We are an unsympathetic people. We do not appreciate the feelings of a man who is thrown on his own resources in middle age after he has held for years a nice easy job as husband to an American millionaire.

Why cannot we let Boni go off by himself and enjoy his troubles? They are the only thing he has left. It is quite unfeeling in us to send him a few more by prepaid cable every morning.

Why He Didn't Apply It.

"I know how to be good."

"Indeed? Have you a working knowledge of it?"

"No; purely theoretical, and not enough to allow for friction."

Born In Him.

Whenever you meet Mr. Grouchy. Don't let him get next to the quick. And try to reflect as his quips you deflect. That he was meant to tick.

Right on Deck.

We miss the old familiar songs
Our mothers used to hum.
We cannot miss the new ones, though,
Unless we're deaf and dumb.

Those Probational Marriages.

"Are you a married man?"
"No, I never got the habit."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A smooth answer standeth off a bill collector.

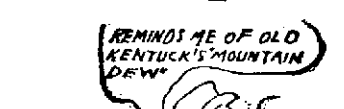

Quite a lot of surprises are often stored away by those people who keep busy with their ears.

If your kicking doesn't get what you want, it may get what some one else wants.

Good acting consists in skillfully performing upon the emotions of other people and incidentally upon their pocketbooks.

Is it the fault of a merit hunter if he succeeds in being only a fault finder?

Life consists in the brotherhood of man and the sisterhood of latest styles.

When a man tells you he is ever striving to scatter a little sunshine along the way, you often find it all moonshine.

Curious that it requires more strength than a man has to overcome one little weakness.

It is said that goodness is rare, but being good seldom attracts any special attention, we notice.

A man who is waiting to have some one give him a start can see his finish with his eyes shut.

It may be that it is better to be happy than rich. The majority of people have never tested it.

The Christmas Anthem

By ARTHUR J. BURDICK

[Copyright, 1906, by Arthur J. Burdick.]

There was Liza Briggs, contralto;

The soprano, Mary Jones,

And the tenor who was noted

For the clearness of his tones.

But the basso was the stunner—

Had a voice so hoarse and strong

It would fairly knock the slivers,

So to speak, right off of song!

I can recollect the anthem

Always sung on Christmas day.

"Gloo-rye, gloo-rye, in the 'ighst!"

We could hear the tenor say.

Then the basso joined the effort.

"Pay-son airth, goo-dwill toe man;

Gloo-rye, pay-son, gloo-rye, pay-son!"

That's the way the anthem ran.

"ANGELS SANG THE GLAWD REEF-RAIN."

Then the women gathered courage:

"Angels sang the glawd reef-rain;"

And the basso followed after:

"Angels, reef-rain," o'er again.

"Reef-rain," "reef-rain," "reef-rain," "reef-rain,"

Shouted each; then all went back

And began again at "Gloo-rye,"

Sailing on another tack.

THE SOPRANO.

And, to peaceful silence sinking,

Let their voices gently float.

AFFLICTED WITH CATARRH— LIFE HAD BECOME A BURDEN.

Pe-ru-na, Used As a Last Resort, Affords Complete Relief.

MRS. F. CARR.

The Relief Experienced By Mrs. Carr Through the Use of Pe-ru-na, After Having Tried the Best Professional Treatment in Valn, Is a Matter of No Small Wonder Among Her Many Friends.

Mrs. F. Carr, Vineland, Ont., Can., writes:

"For several years I was afflicted with catarrh, which made life a burden.

"The coughing and hacking which accompanied the disease was terrible.

"The complaint finally extended to the stomach and I was in a wretched condition.

"I tried different remedies and the best professional treatment all in vain.

"Finally, as a last resort, I tried Peruna upon the recommendation of my sister in Hamilton.

"I could see steady improvement and after using four bottles of that precious medicine I was feeling well again, my old trouble being completely a thing of the past.

"To-day I would not take one thousand dollars for what this grand medicine has done for me."

Many women owe their lives to Peruna. A great many more owe their health to Peruna.

A multitude of women throughout Canada are using Peruna as a preventative and a relief from catarrhal coughs and colds.

We have in our files a great number of letters from grateful women who have been benefited by Peruna, with permission to use these letters in public print.

Catarrh would not be such a curse to the human race if people thoroughly understood its nature.

Catarrh is a disease which never improves of its own accord, but becomes deeper seated the longer it is neglected.

It should be treated at once to prevent it from making inroads upon vital organs.

NEWARK BEATS UHRICHSVILLE IN EXCITING GAME OF POLO

One of the most interesting games of polo took place between the Newark and Uhrichsville teams at the Palace rink on Cedar Street Friday evening, and was witnessed by a good sized crowd of spectators in spite of the bad weather. The Newark team, which now has a record of 10 wins, 1 best place in the state, won with a score of 5 to 1.

The Uhrichsville team is a fast one and the men were in good shape but failed to land a goal. The goal which went to their credit was made accidentally by Barker of the Newark team. The goal tenders on both teams did excellent work. The stops were Disher 22, and Sweetzer 20.

The Newark men played a fine game, Barker being the star. But North and Smart put up a good support. Manager Daken deserves great credit for the condition of the team and placing his men in the lead as winners. The line up was:

Uhrichsville. Newark.
Miller.....First Rush.....Heath
Hunk.....Second Rush.....Barker
Billingslea.....Center.....Smart
Disher.....Left Back.....Lyle
Disher.....Goal.....Sweetzer

The score:

	1	2	3	Tot
Uhrichsville	0	1	0	1
Newark	1	2	2	5

Goals: Heath 3, Barker 2; Rushers: Miller 1, Heath 1; stops: Disher 22, Sweetzer 20. The only foul made in the game was by Heath and this is the first one he has made since he has played with the Newark team. The game was refereed by Daken and timed by Reeser.

ACCIDENT NOT WATCHMAN'S FAULT

Mrs. Emma Holland Resting Comfortably at Sanitarium Though She is Badly Hurt.

Mrs. Emma Holland, who was struck by a B. & O. yard engine while crossing the tracks between the depot and the East Main street crossing, Friday afternoon, is resting comfortably at the Sanitarium. Mrs. Holland sustained two broken ribs in the left side but was otherwise uninjured.

The accident was no fault of the watchman at the East Main street crossing, as it happened some little distance from the street. Mrs. Holland attempted to cross the two tracks and passed behind one train in front of the engine which struck her on the other track. Mrs. Holland resides on Vine street.

THE PRESSING QUESTION.

The tariff question may be hard, The money question deep, And reciprocity in truth May well make statesmen weep, But if you have a bunch of kids On hand you will allow That statesmen understand, That statesmen understand, With just your modest pay, The Christmas present is not one With which you can get gay.

You never know until you count And figure more or less How many nieces, nephews, aunts And sisters you possess. The blithe and busy census man Discovers quite a few Inhabitants, and most of them You find have claims on you.

You look into your pocketbook And find you're needing most of it For vulgar things like hoard, But no excuse like that will serve To make your burden light, You have to get into the push And purchase left and right.

Miller Family Please Notice. Sheriff S. L. Redman has received a letter from Mr. Fred Billman of Van Wert, O., asking for information regarding the descendants of a man named Miller, who lived in Licking county in 1838. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Miller. Mrs. Miller died when her son was a small child and he was adopted by a family named Parks, who lived on the farm now owned by Charles Adellebert. In 1828 Mr. Miller was a very young man and perhaps married again after the death of his wife. If there are any Millers living who ever heard of their father speak of their having an adopted brother, they would confer a great favor by writing to Mr. Billman at Van Wert, O.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

By FRANK H. SWEET

NLY a star, a shining star,
More glorious than our planets are,
But watched by wistful eyes and bright,
And longing hearts, that wondrous night.

Only a manger, shadow thronged,
That to some public inn belonged,
Where sweet breathed cattle quietly
For midnight slumber beat the knee.

Only the light of tapers small,
That on two tender faces fall,
Two tender faces—one divine—
That still through all the centuries shine

Where the grand masters of their art
Wrought faithfully with hand and heart.

Only a Babe, in whose small hand
Is seen no scepter of command,
But at whose name, with freedom's sword,
Move the great armies of the Lord.

Only a cross! But, oh, what light Shines from God's throne on Calvary's height!
His birth, his life, the angels see Written on every Christmas tree.

MISS ZOE FULTON A TALENTED SINGER

Musical America one of the country's foremost musical publications, in its latest issue pays a high compliment to Miss Zoe Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Fulton of this city, who is gaining an enviable reputation in New York as a contralto.

"Zoe Fulton has recently resigned her position as contralto soloist at the Washington Heights Methodist Episcopal church, New York, to accept a similar position in the quartette of the Chester Hill Methodist Episcopal church of Mt. Vernon, N. Y."

"Miss Fulton, who was selected from among a large number of applicants, is considered one of the most promising young contraltos before the public. Her voice is deep, powerful and of good range, and she uses it with commendable judgment and taste."

"The young singer is an Ohio girl, her father being a prominent attorney in that state. Before going to New York she had attracted wide attention in her home city. Well equipped with natural talent and a thorough musical training she has entered upon a career that seems destined to place her in the front ranks of New York's vocal artists at no distant date."

Miss Fulton is a graduate of the Thayer Conservatory of Music and a pupil of Dr. John Dennis Mohan of New York.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

A Timely Warning on Some of Its Dangers.

During the season of Christmas shopping, great care should be taken not to unnecessarily expose yourself to colds that are likely to result in grip and pneumonia. The excitement of the day, the sudden change from the close and suffocating air of the big stores to the street, are all dangerous.

Doctors declare that this is one explanation for the annual increase of sickness at this season. While this article is written to again call your attention to the value of Father John's Medicine in curing and preventing colds, grip and pneumonia, it will be of value to you and may save your life if it causes to be careful to avoid the dangers we have pointed out. They are real dangers.

And if we cause you to avoid the patent medicines, so many of which contain nerve-deadening and poisonous drugs, by again warning you against them, it will be the means of saving your health.

All wheat grown on the Pacific coast is shipped abroad in bags, the farmer has to pay about 7 cents each for it. It required 3,800 cars to move the peach crop from Atlanta alone. Other sections of Georgia produced nearly twice as much.

The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newb's Herpesol. ## Christmas of Bulls and Bears

By JAMES ARTHUR

THE Christmas spirit is about the only thing traded in on Dec. 24 on Wall street, and the brokers have a celebration each year that literally jars things loose. The features of this ceremony vary, but the horseplay does not. The brokers let off the tension and have a good time generally. The festivities begin at noon and sometimes last for several hours. The galleries fill early, mostly with wives and sweethearts of the members on the floor. The Stock Exchange is liberally draped with green and red. The Seventh Regiment band is on hand and as the chairman sounds the gong begins playing "The Star Spangled Banner" or some other patriotic air. Sometimes an elaborate programme is arranged, made up of musical acts, even songs, comic talks and similar performances. But, whatever the special form of the entertainment, the bulls and bears conduct themselves in much the same way. They make Rome bow. Hats are smashed; bags of confetti are thrown at the ladies in the gallery, who in turn empty the contents over the heads and shoulders of the shouting brokers below.

If there happen to be new members they are "initiated" and are carried about the room in a yelling procession to the music of the band. On one such occasion an amateur football game was played in the great chamber of the Stock Exchange. Afterward the members indulged in a cakewalk for an immense forty pound cake, which was temptingly displayed on the chairman's balcony. One staid old financier played the piano, another strummed on a guitar, while the younger brokers cut pigeon wings about the floor. In other years a Christmas tree graced the Stock Exchange celebrations, all sorts of comic presents were handed out, and the carnival ended up by everybody telling jokes on everybody else. Of recent years this formal observance of the day has been abandoned. Now the ceremony is simply a small edition of pandemonium, a sort of frozen Christmas, as it were.

The celebration of last year will give an idea of these Christmas eve frolics in Wall street. At five minutes before noon the whole floor seemed intent on business, pushing up U. P. and other stocks and hurling puts and calls back and forth like a game of battle-boat and shuttlecock. Promptly at 12 the great gong sounded, and in the twinkling of an eye the scene was transformed. From somewhere appeared a band and began playing "Everybody Works but Father," and all the brokers howled in chorus. A rope was stretched across the room, and visitors crowded into the open space outside. Pads of paper and everything else that was loose were gathered up and hurried through the air, hats were used as missiles, great showers of colored paper were thrown here and there, and the din was greater than it is even in a panic. Dozens of young men formed circles about older men in the game of "bull in the ring."

At this moment appeared a great push ball, six feet in diameter, which was sent spinning across the floor, only to be hurled back again, bowling over men in its flight. To and fro went

ONE BROKER WAS BOULED ON TO THE BALL, the great rubber sphere, while the shouting reached a pitch to drown out the band. Finally one broker was hoisted on to the ball, which promptly was kicked out from under him. But, though his legs were in the air, he was kept from falling and again reached his feet. Then the ball was rolled toward the high platform of the chairman, when a joint effort was made to wheel it out from under the broker's feet. Leapfrog, he caught an edge of the platform, scrambled over the railing and gravely shook hands with the venerable and dignified presiding officer. The hilarious ceremony was wound up by a collection being taken for the messenger boys and attendants, which mounted up to thousands of dollars.

Whatever new methods of playing horse will be introduced in high finance circles for the Christmas eve festivities this year, it is certain that the men who make and wreck fortunes will enjoy themselves.

A ROYAL SET IN SABLES.

From far St. Petersburg the land of the Russian sable, where one finds this costly pelt at its most luxurious best, comes this charming set, which presents several new and novel ideas. The chapeau, the corslet, the muff, are totally different to what we have been accustomed to seeing on this side of the water. A somewhat Spanish shape is presented in the turban, the crown being flat and the brim deep and setting closely to the crown all around. The shape projects prettily for just a trifle all around, the under part of the brim being made in a pale pink tulle that casts a most becoming glow over the face, and lightens up the somewhat heavy effect of the fur. This effective touch of pink is repeated in the loose, leaved velvet roses that are caught to the side, dull and faded tints of rose pink toying softly against the fur. The muff is one of the oblong and flat shapes that are replacing the pouch effects that have occupied a prominent place in fashion for several seasons now; and there is a flat fringe of the fur all around, a real lace ruffling underneath adding to the rich and elegant effect. The corslet is an absolute novelty on this side of the Atlantic, and is planned rather as a trimming for the gown than as a separate fur wrap or garment. The title describes its shape accurately, if passing around the waistline absolutely, as does a corslet. A broad stole is arranged to produce a bretelle effect, and there is a postillion of the fur at the back—where, incidentally, the fastening is effected—that adds much to its originality and charm.

LEADERS OF FRANCE ACTUATED BY HATE OF RELIGION

Cardinal Gibbons Explains the Grave Situation in France

EFFORT TO CRUSH CHURCH

Cardinal Declares That True State of Affairs Is Not Understood in U. S.

"The American public does not understand the present crisis in France," said Cardinal Gibbons when asked at Baltimore Thursday night for his opinion on the French situation. A short dispatch outlining this interview was in the Advocate's telegraph news yesterday. The full text of the Cardinal's remarks is here given:

"I am getting to be an old man now and I think I know my countrymen. They love fair play; they love liberty; they love to see humane dealings of man with man, and the late years have shown how cordially they hate injustice, tyranny and inhumanity. And yet France has treated her noblest citizens with injustice and inhumanity, and America, which has sympathy for the oppressed of all nations, has raised no protest nor uttered a word of sympathy.

"If I believed that my countrymen would knowingly see a great and beneficent organization unjustly deprived of its property and the means of continued usefulness, would knowingly see tens of thousands of honest men and noble women robbed of their just income and means of support, would knowingly see hundreds of thousands and even several millions of people brutally wounded in what they hold dearest and most sacred, would knowingly see a majority in the Chambers utterly disregard and trample upon the rights of millions of their countrymen—in the name of liberty—would knowingly see tens of thousands of men and women who happen to be priests and nuns, turned out of their homes for no crime but that of loving God, I say, if my countrymen can see and recognize all this injustice and tyranny and cruelty and refuse genuine sympathy, then I will leave life without that faith in American love by nothing less than hatred of religion. We have no spirit akin to theirs in this country. We have here much indifference to religion, but we have no body of men, no great party that makes it a chief aim to weaken the power of religion, and, if possible, utterly to drive it out of the land.

But in France the Jacobin party is not dead. Their spirit is as living today as it was in the last decade of the eighteenth century. They hate God, they hate Christ, they hate His religion as much as ever their fathers hated them. But they have learned a more prudent and measured method of attack. They are almost scientific in the means they have taken to suppress Christianity. And yet the utterances of such men are received as unsuspecting by many Americans as would be a discourse by Mr. Cleveland or Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Taft—men who recognize the powerful influence that religion has in promoting the welfare of society.

"It is easy to show that I am not misrepresenting the spirit of anticlericalism. They make no secret of their hatred of Christianity. They avow it in the press and in the Chambers. Let me give you a few examples of the language of these men, and you can judge if the American people have ever heard anything similar from their own leaders or if any American statesman would dare to utter such statements.

"In the course of a long speech in the Chamber of Deputies the well-known Socialist leader Jaures said:

"If God Himself appeared before the multitudes in palpable form, the first duty of man would be to refuse Him obedience and to consider Him not as a master to whom men should submit, but as an equal with whom men may argue."

"Mr. Vivian, the new Minister of Labor, speaking also in the Chamber of Deputies, gave utterance to these sentiments:

"All of us together, first by our forefathers, then by our fathers, now by ourselves, have been attached to the work of anticlericalism and irreligion. We have snatched the human conscience from belief in a future life. Do you think that the work is at an end? No, it is but beginning."

"The Chamber decreed that the discourse from which this extract is taken should be placed in every town and village of France.

"In the same strain the present Minister of Public Worship and the most strenuous advocate of the law of separation, M. Briand, said in an address to schoolteachers:

"The time has come to root up from the minds of the French chil-

HEAD OF CATHOLIC FAITH IN UNITED STATES

Assembly pledged itself to render some sort of justice to the church by giving for the support of the clergy and the maintenance of worship an annual budget. This amounted to a little more than 1 per cent on the values appropriated.

"Let it be remembered, too, that this act of quasi justice took place 12 years before the concordat between the Holy See and Napoleon I. The payment therefore of the clerical stipends was not dependent simply upon a concordat, but was a recognition of a just debt owed by the state to the church.

"The present conflict dates back to the year 1880, when a large number of religious houses were closed by the government and their occupants dispersed. From that time scarcely a year has passed without some annoyance to the church—a series of petty acts of discrimination that were bound in the long run to call for a protest. The protest came in the form of a personal letter from Pope Leo XIII. to President Grévy in May, 1883. In spite of the pontiff's reasonable objections the injurious laws were passed.

"As far as possible God and religion were banished from the schools and hospitals, the oath deprived of its religious character and clerics impressed into the military service.

"Next, in 1901, the law of associations was passed, causing untold misery to thousands. By it the schools in charge of religious orders were forced out of existence. The members of the different religious congregations, not only male, but female, as well, were cast out upon the world. Many of these were old and had spent a lifetime within the convent walls.

Finally in December, 1905, the concordat was dissolved and separation of church and state proclaimed.

"It is essential to bear in mind that the concordat was a genuine contract and that this contract was annulled by one of the parties—the French government—with no regard to the wishes of the other party.

"Perhaps the feature of the situation that will surprise us most and call for our just indignation as Americans, is the French government's absolute disregard for the property rights of the church. What should we think if our own government had seized on the friar's lands in the Philippines without giving any compensation; or after having pledged solemnly a compensation should afterward refuse to keep its part of the contract? Furthermore, suppose the American government had left to the Filipino merely the use and not the ownership of their churches and only under condition laid down by itself, and even that their very use were liable to be revoked at any time?

"In addition the provisions of the law of separation entirely ignore the constitution and laws of the church—a situation that has no parallel in our American method of keeping church and state separate. Provisions are made obligatory for organizing Catholic worship without any proper reference to the duly authorized officer of the church.

"This is the point to which the Holy Father has objected most strenuously. The provision for associations of worship opens the way for schismatic organizations, which have in fact, in a few cases, been already attempted. Should the church accept the present law she has before her the very likely prospect of gradual extinction by due process of law. She has learned by long and sad exper-

LEGISLATION URGED BY TAFT

Needs of the Philippines Pointed Out In His Annual Report.

CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING

Abolition of Hemp Rebate and Passage of Tariff Reduction Measure Suggested—Lack of Transportation Facilities a Serious Drawback. Doings of Congress.

Washington, Dec. 15.—By a vote of 106 to 188 the house of representatives refused to increase from $5,000 to $7,500 the salaries of senators, members and delegates. The house, however, by an overwhelming vote, increased the salaries of the vice president, the speaker of the house and members of the president's cabinet to $12,000 each. In anticipation of the question there was large attendance. The several amendments for increase were offered by Mr. Littauer of New York to the legislative appropriation bill. After disposing of the salary question the house passed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, and adjourned.

Secretary Taft, in his annual report, says of the Philippines:

"It gratifies me to be able to say that conditions in the Philippines show steady improvement. The Philippine commission has used every effort to cut down the expenses of government, and has found this not inconsistent with rendering the government more efficient. In every part of the islands, except in the two provinces of Leyte and Samar, peace and tranquillity obtain. The capture or surrender of the leaders of ladrone bands in the island of Luzon has brought about a better condition than ever before existed in the islands.

"In Samar and Leyte there has been for a long time a bitter feud between the mountain peoples of those two islands, known as Pulahanes, and the people of the coast towns. In these islands the Pulahanes raise hemp and dispose of it to purchasers from the coast towns. They are at times subject to oppression and fraud by the local dealers in hemp and by the municipal officials who attempt to monopolize their sales at prices very much below the market. These and other causes create a constant feeling of suspicion and resentment on the part of the mountain people against constituted authority.

"If serious disturbances in Samar and Leyte were to continue, the question might arise whether the conditions of peace and tranquillity in the islands were such as to justify calling an election for a popular assembly.

Business Depression.

"The depressed condition of business in the islands seems to have continued, especially in respect to the raising and exportation of sugar and tobacco. The violent and unusual storm of cyclonic character which visited the islands in the latter part of 1905 destroyed about $1,000,000 in value of the crop of hemp. In the matter of exports, however, this loss was made up by an increase in the production and exportation of coconuts, so that on the whole the exports of the islands fell off only about half a million of dollars.

"No real prosperity can come to the islands and no substantial improvement be made in the welfare, education and uplifting of the people until the means of intercommunication between the islands and between the various towns in each island shall be greatly increased. The most important step that can be taken in this way is the construction of railroads, for they not only in themselves furnish most important intercommunication and transportation, but they also make possible, and indeed bring about the construction of wagon roads. Railways connecting the harbors with the coast and interior towns are much needed. The conditions in the Philippines with respect to railroads have been deplorable.

"Congress at its last session authorized a reduction in the fineness and the weight of silver to be used in the Philippine peso by the Philippine commission, in order to avoid the difficulty which was being experienced by reason of the rapid rise in the price of silver as measured in gold. In the same act power was given to the Philippine commission to have certificates of deposit which could be redeemed either in gold dollars of the United States or Philippine pesos. This greatly relieved the monetary situation in the Philippines.

Mr. Taft recommends the Philippine tariff bill, which has already passed the house, and strongly urges the passage of an act authorizing the Philippine government to guarantee to a private agricultural bank a dividend of 4 per cent on $10,000,000. The abolition of the hemp rebate is also recommended.

Swedish school children, under the guidance of their teachers, annually plant 600,000 trees.

MRS. BIRDSONG GIVEN FIVE YEARS IN PRISON FOR KILLING DOCTOR

Hazlehurst, Miss., Dec. 15.—Mrs. Angie Birdsong was denied a new trial by Judge Allen. She was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary and notice of appeal was given to the Mississippi supreme court.

When notice of appeal was made, Mrs. Birdsong was granted bail of $10,000, which was furnished.

Mrs. Birdsong shot and killed Dr. Thomas Barker at Hazlehurst, Miss., Nov. 25, 1905, and in the trial, concluded several days ago, was convicted of manslaughter. Since that time she has been seriously ill, because of her young child and her illness Mrs. Birdsong was never seen in jail.

ANNA CARLISLE SAYS JUDGE PREJUDICED FILES OBJECTIONS

Columbus, Dec. 15.—Anna Carlisle Hovey, formerly of Newark, yesterday filed an affidavit in probate court in support of a charge that Judge Samuel Black is prejudiced against her and for that reason unfit to preside at her trial on the charge of keeping a resort in South Front street.

The affidavit indicates that the woman will fight the case. There is no law under which any but the regular probate judge could sit in the trial of a case in his court. The affidavit, it is thought, will be used in an effort to secure a reversal of any judgment that may be rendered by Judge Black.

The woman has been found guilty under the juvenile court law of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl but was not sentenced on this charge. The new prosecution is under the general law, and is the first in the Franklin county probate court, for a misdemeanor.

SELIGMAN HEADS TAX COMMISSION

New York, Dec. 15.—The industrial economic committee of the National Civic Federation decided to name two commissions for the special study of corporations and the income tax. Edmund R. Seligman, professor of political economy at Columbia university, it was announced, will head the tax commission. The other members will include tax commissioners from each of the states that have such officers. No announcement was made as to the personnel of the corporations commission.

LEOPOLD'S OFFER HAS BEEN ACCEPTED

Brussels, Dec. 15.—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of 127 against 20, approved the proposal for Belgium to accept the terms of the Congo independence state to Belgium with the stipulation that the royal private domains there be maintained. This vote means that Belgium will proceed to annex the independent state after it has presented a full statement of its obligations. Existing concessions, including those granted to Americans, are not to be interfered with.

ANOTHER FOR BEEL

Columbus, Dec. 15.—Fred Beel, the champion champion wrestler of America and "Yankee" Rogers, the New England champion, here, and won the match in two straight falls. The first round lasted 37 seconds more than a minute, and the champion had the big fellow on the defensive all the time. The first fall was won in 11 minutes and 41 seconds with a hand lock and crank hold. The second fall lasted 21 minutes and 30 seconds. Beel finally secured a reversed half-nelson which Rogers was unable to break.

Tommy Corcoran Said.

New York, Dec. 15.—Tommy Corcoran, for several years starship on the Cincinnati National baseball team, was bought by American League of the New York Yankees. The consideration was not made public.

COAL FAMINE IN NORTHWEST

Situation Desperate In Sections of Minnesota and North Dakota.

AUTHORITIES APPEALED TO

Shippers Unable to Obtain Cars and Commercial Clubs Urge Calling Out of Troops to Run Trains—Many Will Freeze if Fuel Is Not Available Soon.

Minneapolis, Dec. 15.—With the cold wave signal flying the coal shortage in the northwest becomes not only a cause of severe suffering, but an absolute menace to human life. Glenburn, N. D., is seriously considering an appeal to the governors of both Dakota and Minnesota to employ the state military in forcing the moving of coal trains. Eveleth, Minn., faces darkness and suffering through deprivation of coal, and apprehensive reports have come from other places.

The Glenburn (N. D.) situation is thus summed up in a statement from the Glenburn Commercial club: "The dealers wire us that the situation is entirely up to the railroads. Shippers are unable to obtain cars to load with coal. We wired Governor Saries requesting him to take up the matter with Governor Johnson of Minnesota and, if necessary, call out the militia of the two states to run coal trains."

"The situation all through this section is desperate, and with the liability of blizzards any time many will freeze to death if fuel is not available soon. Farmers are already coming to town with stories of burning up sheds and other outhouses. We have notified the farmers that if the worst comes they can bring their families and bedding and camp in our new four-room brick schoolhouse. We have sufficient coal to heat the building for 30 days at least, and it will go further in this way than it would if distributed among those who are out, as it would not make a bushel each."

"We also wired our senators at Washington asking their interest with the federal government. We can not put our words strong enough to convey to you the importance of getting railroads to haul special trains of coal into the sections suffering. Lignite is unavailable, as the same handicap is met there."

Commission Acts. Washington, Dec. 15.—In view of the complaints of car shortage, resulting it is said in failure to transport the necessities of life, the interstate commerce commission sent a telegram to the presidents of a number of western and northwestern railroads urging them "to make every possible effort to meet at once the needs and relieve the suffering of those dependent upon the facilities of" the roads.

No Coal. Seattle, Wash., Dec. 15.—The University of Washington closed on account of the coal famine from which the city is suffering. It is not known when classes will be resumed.

MEXICO

Takes Control of All Important Lines in the Republic.

City of Mexico, Dec. 15.—The details of the railway merger, by which the Mexican government takes control of all of the important lines in the republic, are now known. By the terms of the contract the government secures absolute control of the Mexican Central, the National, the International, the Interoceanic and the Hidalgo & Northeastern, all of which will be merged into one great railroad system. The government also comes into control of the Texas-Mexican, a railroad at Laredo, Tex., which is owned by the National. The mileage of the system will, with extensions, which are rapidly nearing completion, aggregate approximately 10,000 miles. The Tehuantepec National and Vera Cruz & Pacific, two other railroads controlled by the government, will continue to be operated as independent companies.

INDIAN COAL LANDS

Washington, Dec. 15.—Secretary Hitchcock added his views to those which have been entered in Indian Territory by the special senate commission authorized to investigate the property claims and citizenship situation of the five civilized tribes. An endeavor was made to arrive at the value of the coal lands of these tribes. It having been variously estimated at from $150,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000. It was stated that application for the purchase of these lands was expected from the new state of Oklahoma. The secretary was unable to place a value on the lands. The secretary expressed himself against any present sale of the lands, saying he believed it would be impossible to get anything like a fair price for them.

George Clemenceau.

CLAIMED TO BE MOST BRILLIANT POLITICIAN IN FRANCE

which has been my comfort and support of justice and liberty and humanity port and hope. But the American people have not had these things put fairly before them.

"Our own press has been to a considerable extent the reflex of the Parisian anti-clerical press. Most people over here have little conception of the French anti-clericals. They look on the leaders of this party as enlightened statesmen seeking to preserve the republic from the attacks of an aggressive clergy. There have been honest and sincere lovers of republican government among the anti-clericals. I admit, but the majority of them have far less love of the republic than they have of religion. I am weighing my words and I say with deliberate conviction that the leaders of the present French government are actuated dren the ancient faith which has served its purpose and replace it with the light of fresh thought. It is time to get rid of the Christian idea. We have hunted Jesus Christ out of the army, the navy, the schools, the hospitals, insane and orphan asylums and law courts, and now we must hunt him out of the state altogether."

"In order to understand the present situation it must be borne in mind that before the French Revolution all churches, all ecclesiastical lands and properties belonged to the church by as just a title as property is owned in our own country by the Catholic, Methodist or any other religious denomination. At the Revolution all buildings, landed properties, funds, &c., were confiscated by the revolutionists. But the injustice of this was soon recognized and the Constituent

CASSIE CHADWICK A PHYSICAL WRECK

Columbus, O., Dec. 15.—A remarkable change has come over Cassie Chadwick, the famous female convict at the penitentiary. The disease, neuritis, with which she is afflicted has caused one of her arms to swell to almost double its natural size and her condition is considered dangerous. She looks 20 years older than she did when she entered the prison, and she seems to be a physical wreck.

Brother Gardner And Limekiln Club

His Words of Advice to Fellow Members—Tells a Story About Brudder Shindig.

[Copyright, 1906, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

WHEN the routine business had been disposed of at the last regular meeting of the Limekiln Club Brother Gardner arose in his seat and said:

"I hain't feelin' 'bout things as I would like to feel. I's got de feelin' on me dat de cullid people ob dis kentry an gwine to smash in spite ob all dat kin be said or dunn. Ebbery day when I walks out I cum home wid an achin' heart. Ebbery time I pick up a paper and set down to read I am made to wonder what has got into de cullid race dat it am actin' so.

"I was in a feed stoh de odder evenin' to buy some co'n fur my chickens. I has bin acquainted wid dat feed stoh man fur ten years, and we like each odder. He has nebbet cotched me nuffin' in my pockets wid co'n when his back to send up 10 cents' worth of mashed oats in a hurry. You'd hev thought Brudder Jones owned de airt and dat de hull United States was gwine to tip ober if he didn't git dem oats mighty quick. He felt hisself bigger'n a brick house and of mo' importance dan a governor, but arter he went out dat feed stoh man called him all sorts o' names and predicted dat he'd come down to airt wid an awful smash befo' de year was out. He wasn't impressed or imposed on a lecture bit.

"Some few weeks ago Brudder Shindig Watkins had de grifness to lose his wife. She was his third wife, but when his club learned de sad news it took right heit jest de same as if she had been his first. It sorrored. It bought flowers. It clipped in $50 in cash. Mo' dan fifty of us attended de funeral. When we returned from de sad occasion we patted Shindig on de back and told him dat his loss was her gain and dat dere was no cloud widout its silver lining. You all remember how broken up he was. Some of us said dat he would neber rekiver from de blow.

"A day or two ago, only six weeks arter de calamity, I was walking threw Chipmunk alley, and I stumbled upon Brudder Shindig. He and a cullid woman was sittin' on a doanstep. He had his arm around dat woman, and her head was laid on his shoulder. When any one tells you dat de white folks own all de rapid transit business in de kentry you jest remember dis ease.

"Three months ago Brudder Pickles Smith lost his mother by death. She wasn't no wuss and no better dan any odder man's mother. Pickles had our sympathy, and we clipped in $25 in cash besides. Next thing we heard of him he was arraigned wid a marble man to git a $200 monument for de ole woman. He wanted de genuine art, and he wanted an angel wid her wings spread on top. He wanted somethin' to beat de white folks, and he would have had it and been fifty years payin' for it if I hadn't happened to meet him while he was on his way to church de bargain.

"Brudder Chesphate Nickerson blacks stoves and does whitewashin', and his average earnings are $10 a week. He liss clus to a white man who ains $100. Common sense would tell Brudder Chesphate dat he was no society swell and wasn't called upon to put on de frills. Common sense would tell him dat $10 will go three times as far at $10. He don't listen to common sense, however. He and his wife are tryin' to outshine dat white family. Dey hev ice cream and angel's cake. Dey buy a bushel of faters to once. Dey hev a telephone in de house. Dey swell out on Sunday mawnin's and try to git de front pew at church. I don't know of two bigger fools in all de land, and de next time Brudder Phosphate comes to my house to borrow a dollar of me I shall institute proceedin's to make his heart ache.

"Oder day de stove sots Sundown Jackson. When he moved up yere from Albany five years ago he was a mighty sensible man. He told me dat he had sot down and figgered it out dat de white folks had de bulge on all odder races and dat it was no use to kick. He jest wanted room to lib and git along. He didn't want to git in nobody's way. He kept to dat course for three years and was a success. I hev heard a dozen white men speak in his praise. About two years ago Brudder Sundown changed his mind. He reckoned de time had come to begin to crowd to de front. He begun to swagger and talk big and wear two watch chains, and tonight he jest imagines dat he is carryin' dis hull kentry on his shoulders. You listen to what I say. Dar's a lion in Brudder Sundown's path, and sooner or later we'll hear of a calamity and set out to look fur de remains.

"I happened to be in Snyder's grocery a few evenings ago when Brudder Bromo Larkins walked in. I was dar to buy a pound of brown sugar and a quarter of a pound of thirty cent tea. I was dar to do it in my humble way and not crowd anybody else. I was talkin' wid de grocer 'bout de Panamanaw canal and how it would benefit de world at large when Brudder Bromo come bustin' in and ordered fo' pounds of white sugar, half a pound of de best tea, real Java coffee and a hull sack of flour. He called de grocer Jim, and he called me governor, and he strutted up and down and told about bein' out in de kentry to see a 200 acre farm.

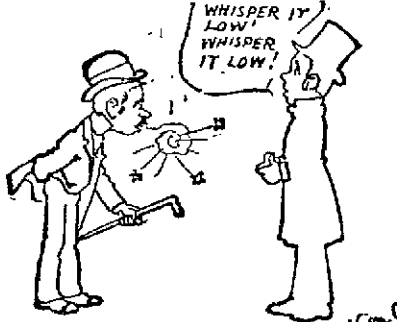

"Was I deceived? Was dat grocer deceived? Was de lame woman who came in wid a pitcher to buy a pint of milk deceived? No, sah. We all knowed dat if Brudder Bromo's debts was paid he wouldn't have 'nuff left to buy a pint of peanuts. We knowed dat his old boss has a mortgage on it and dat all de furniture in his house was bought on de installment plan. We jest looked upon him as a wind bag and an ass. I hain't gwine to say anything directly to him tonight, but I'm sayin' dat some night when he's swellin' up and down de street and axin' small boys if dey hev seen anything of his chauffeur and auto he will suddenly bump into me. Two minuts later he will be on his way home on a board and wonderin' whar he am at.

"I wanted to find Brudder Downright Johnson de odder day and ax him if he had any coon grease to spare fur my bates. I knowed he worked in a wood yard, and while I was on my way ober I was jined by a white man. I neber jine a white man ob my own accord, but if dey jine me I feel duly honored. It happened dat he was gwine to de same wood yard. When we got dar de boss happened to be ont, and Brudder Downright was so 'shamed ob bein' seen at work dat he began to swell around and claim dat he was de boss. He didn't want white folks to know dat he labored wid his hands. He's behind in his rent, in debt all ober and couldn't hold a funeral ober a cat widout borrowin' de money, and yet he felt dat it would degrade him to be seen at work! I didn't gib him away, but I know what dat white man thought ob him.

"I tell you, my friends, dat things am gettin' what you might call bustifrous. De cullid man wants to git ahead too fast. Bekase he's got his foot on de ladder he wants to rush right to de top at once. He wants to swell out and to swagger and to be what he can neber be. He hain't deceivin' anybody, not even hisself. He's jest playin' de fool, and if he keeps it up a few years longer he'll reap de reward. He'll come down off de roof wid a smash and a squash, and it will be fifty years befo' he gits ober his back ache."

Following the Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Wilbur T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles, and all lung diseases." Guaranteed at Hall's drug store. Price 50c and $1. ### CHRISTMAS PACKAGES.

Carefulness in mailing the Christmas packages will avoid trouble and prevent disappointment. Generally packages are insecurely prepared and often the wrapper containing the address is lost and the article never reaches its destination. There are no means of identification, especially with this heap of Christmas presents. All merchandise should be wrapped carefully with the address conspicuous and plainly written, which facilitates the work of the mailmen in their extremely busy season. Thousands of packages, carefully prepared for their journey is a source of bitter disappointment because they fail to arrive at their destination before Christmas. A large per cent of the patrons of the mail service wait too late and their packages are to be found in a heap of mail on Christmas. It's better to have your presents arrive early than late. Remember, mail early, wrap securely, and write plainly.

Two Christmas Stories

By KATHERINE GLOVER

[Copyright, 1906, by Katherine Glover.]

"SHE ISN'T COMING."

They were well used to the ways of the place. Shabby and ill kept most of them looked, but their faces were bright and their lips were bubbling with little snatches of song, overflowing evidently from hearts full of gaiety.

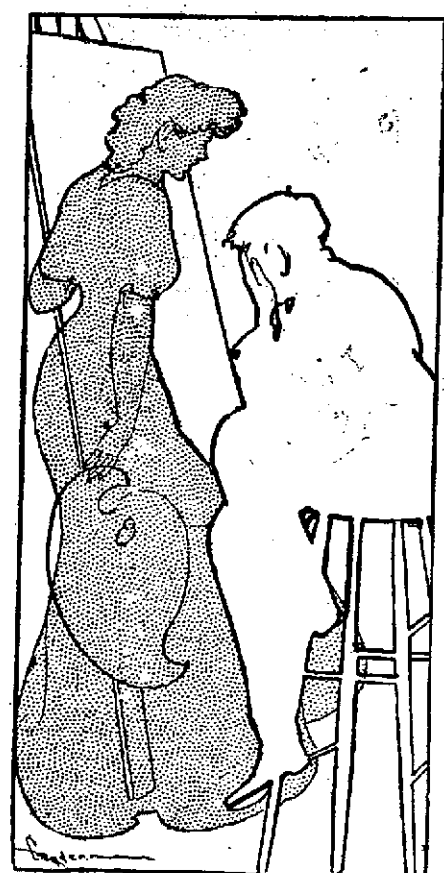

At one table in a corner sat a man apart from the crowd and clearly oblivious to the life of the place, his eyes eagerly watching first the clock and then the door. Once or twice he started and half rose from his chair as some one entered, scanning a face closely, only to sink back with a long sigh. It was five minutes of 7 o'clock. "She isn't coming," he thought, and he let his chin fall heavily into his palm while he tried to gather his thoughts. At last, half conscious of some one approaching, he looked up and found a girl standing there, her hand outstretched. "I am late," she said hurriedly. "Have I kept you waiting long?"

"Yes, but it doesn't matter. Nothing matters now that you are here," he said warmly, taking her hand in both of his. "Sit down and let me look at you." He drew out her chair and seated himself opposite. Both were silent for a moment while they looked steadily into each other's eyes. The color rose slowly in the girl's cheeks, and she turned away.

"It is almost like old times, isn't it?" she asked, with a nervous little laugh. "Like all the best of the old times rolled into one," he said. "Heavens, how I have wanted to be back, Joyce!" "We are both growing too old to be sentimental, Jack. I want you to tell me all about Paris and your success. I read about you and was very proud to be an old friend of the distinguished young American artist, Mr. John Hamilton Seawell."

They were interrupted by the waiter, an old friend of the two, who bowed and scraped an infinite number of times before they could stop him. "Tonight we are to have all the things we used to pretend we didn't like because the figures were too steep for our incomes, with a few of the more familiar things thrown in for old lang syne," he said, scanning the menu card. Joyce nodded her head and smiled, and the order was finally given after a long conference of the three.

When the waiter brought the dinner, the table was heaped with little dishes of all sorts, more than they could possibly have eaten if they had been saving up for this one meal during all the time of their separation. In reality they were both too excited to be hungry, and their tongues went so fast that there was time only for spasmodic dips into the various dishes. When the dinner tapered off to coffee and cheese, however, they both fell into silence. The man lighted a cigar in the old easy way they were used to and said between puffs, "I want to tell you a story, Mlle. Joyce, if you will listen."

"I shall be most happy," she said with assumed gaily. "But be sure to make it end well. I don't like sad stories on Christmas eve."

"I shall do my best not to make it end unhappily, but that isn't for me to say. Well, here goes:

ed. The maiden at least ought to have been very rich, possessor of stately mansions and all that sort of thing, if she had had her deserts, but, truth to tell, both of them were very, very poor—so poor that the maiden used to wear frayed skirts and cracked shoes sometimes, though she laughed and pretended she did it for fun, and the artist was so poor that—well, he was poorer than any really respectable person ever was before. The two lived next door neighbors high up in the same cheap boarding house in a busy little city called New York. For some unfathomable reason the maiden took pity on the artist and used to help him out of his domestic difficulties and try to patch up his moral snags and tears as well. She was his good angel and made the days of struggling worth while for the stupid artist. She used to write wonderful stories—much too wonderful to be appreciated by the earthly editors she had to submit them to. In spite of their poverty, they used to have good times together, those two. When things grew very somber they would help each other cheer at fortune. There was a little restaurant where they would have jolly dinners whenever the artist sold a sketch or two. Carl, the keeper of the restaurant, was their friend and served them good dinners seasoned with sage philosophy. The day dawned when the artist had an opportunity to go abroad and study his art under the great masters—the thing he had longed for all his life.

"When the chance came, however, it seemed a small thing compared to the loss of the maiden."

THEY WERE INTERRUPTED BY THE WAITER.

ever had before. He went to Paris, where he pitched deep into work to try to forget the maiden, but thoughts of her would creep in in spite of himself, and sometimes her image, a laughing, haunting image, would steal in between him and his canvas, and then he would have to give up work for that day. It was no use. He would go out on the streets and walk and walk and walk, trying to wonder if the maiden's answer was final, calling up little scenes of their days together, conjuring up her looks to see if he could not again read in her eyes and find something there that he wanted. He wrote her long letters telling her a great many things that were not always kind. Some of the letters he sent across the ocean to her; others he tore up and tried to forget. But there were only three letters from her in all the four years he was gone, and they all came on Christmas eve. Long friendly letters they were, just like the chats they used to have, but with no sign of the thing he wanted her to write above all else. The stupid artist worked so hard that he could hardly help winning some shadowy success in all that time. There was a picture or two in the salon; his instructors grew encouraging; there was a line now and then in the papers, all of which puffed him up mightily because he vainly hoped they might make some difference with the maiden.

"When four years had passed the artist thought he might return to his home in New York and start his work there. He told himself over and over again that he was going home to the maiden, and his heart beat absurdly with hope of seeing her and then sank heavily again at thought of the change the years might have made, of the estrangement they might have brought. During the time he had been away she had written many stories and had finally convinced the editors of their worth. He saw her name in the contents of a number of magazines. The old days were changed. He would no longer find her in the cheap boarding house. If she sent him away three years before, she probably had almost forgotten him in all this time, but the thought of the Christmas letters spurred him to write to her and tell her of his return. He would reach New York the day before Christmas, the anniversary of his leaving. Would she meet him that evening at half past 6 in the little restaurant? He would wait for her at their same table in the corner, and they would talk over old times. The artist arrived in New York on the day he expected, and all afternoon he wandered about, waiting for the hour of their engagement, yet half dreading it for fear she should not come. But the good fairy waved her wand for him this time, for the maiden really came, and she is just the same, dear, sweet maiden as in the old days, only the shabby clothes are replaced by new, well cut things, and there is a quiet air of prosperity about her. She looks just a little older, perhaps, and the eyes are a trifle more serious, but they are the same tender, splendid eyes, reflecting a big, sweet soul. The two talked over many things, but all the time the artist has searched the maiden's eyes to see if he could find there any sign of what he has longed for all these years, a different answer to the question he put to her four years ago. He is eager to offer again to make a home for her and to spend his life trying to make her the happiest woman in all the world."

He looked over at the girl. "It is for you to end the story," he said quietly. Her cheeks were flushed, and she

The monarch of repertoire, J. Rus. Smith, presenting The Murray Comedy company, in a new play Monday. The organization is stronger than ever and consists of 18 people. It is a popular priced company par excellence, and the specialties, of which there are a great number, are of a high order. The company will appear here for a week, commencing Monday, January 17. The opening bill, "The Cause of It All," is a comedy drama pure and sparkling and fairly bristles with startling climaxes and laughing comedy. Ladies free upon opening when accompanied by a person with a paid 30 cent ticket, if purchased before 6 o'clock.

During the action of the play a feature never before seen with a repertoire company will be given. Da-bee's trained rats, cats, dogs and monkeys, one of the greatest and highest priced vaudeville acts. Free turkeys too—a chance to get your Christmas dinner for nothing.

THE ORPHUM.

Next week the Orphum will present another very pleasing program including Mlle. Psycho, the electric wonder, Bradley and Davis, singing and dancing comedians. Jones and Raymond, refined musical artists, Fred Russell, black face comedian, Floyd Mack, monologue artist, new illustrated songs and the great feature film, the "California Holdup." This will be fine vaudeville bill and will certainly please Orphum theater patrons. Remember the drawing for the set of dishes this evening. Don't miss attending.

GREAT SOUTHERN.

The Great Southern theater, Columbus, will offer to its patrons on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 18 and 19, one of the foremost fun making productions of the day, the Rogers Brothers in "Rogers Brothers in Ireland." There is scarce a theater goer, who has not seen these was toying with her spoon. She looked up at him a moment, and her eyes were shining. "I want to go back a little and change your story some. I shall begin where the artist had his opportunity to go abroad and study. When he told the maiden about the chance and offered to give it up for her it was the hardest thing she ever had to do in her life to refuse the sacrifice, but she had some small sense of right, and she knew what those years abroad would mean to his future, so she rebuffed him and made him do the thing she knew his head dictated, though his foolish, generous heart led him to offer the other. He thought it was hard for him, perhaps, but he had Paris, with all its diversions, and the spur of his new work, while she had only the lonely sense of his absence. She used to haunt the places where they had been together, and sometimes the days dragged so that only the thought of the millstone she would have been to him if she had acceded to his plan kept her from doing some desperate thing. Then there came his letters begging her for some line in return, and that was the hardest battle of all. She fought it steadily for three days before she won. She knew if she wrote to him her letters would keep her in his mind and that some time she might carelessly say something to bring him back sooner than he ought to come. It was hard not to yield to what her heart pleaded for, but she felt he could do his best work out of her thoughts of her and then—"

"SHE USED TO WRITE WONDERFUL STORIES."

Joyce paused.

"And then?" the man said quickly. "She thought perhaps he might have fooled himself that he wanted to marry her while circumstances drew their lives so closely together. Now that he was seeing more of the world and meeting other women he would weigh the matter and would learn his mind. If he came back and still wanted her, she would know he meant it, and—"

"Yes?" the man broke in eagerly. "That's all," she ended lamely, smiling up at him.

"No, not all. Together shall we try to end the stories with 'They lived happily ever after.'"

She reached out her hands to him for answer, and he closed them tenderly in his.

comedians and who has not laughed himself into exhaustion at their comicalities. Likewise there is scarce a person who has not heard of them and their skill at producing fun. The only question then that could remain is whether the vehicle itself is adequate. That it is adequate and even far more than adequate is proven by the fact that although this is the third season the Rogers Brothers have had it, they were not able until this season to reach the middle west, being compelled by the demand for seats to play long engagements in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.

On Saturday, matinee and night, December 22, one of the standard emotional plays that has long enjoyed the patronage of the American public "Zaza" will be enacted at the Great Southern by a very strong and able cast. The company is said to be fully capable of reaching the emotional heights in which "Zaza" abounds. The cast has been selected because of its all around strength and ability. The play, it will be recalled, was the one which served to elevate Mrs. Leslie Carter to her prominent position.

THE PRINCE OF INDIA.

The announcement of the special production of General Lew Wallace's "The Prince of India," which is the attraction at the Great Southern during January, has already created wide-spread interest. This colossal stage masterpiece comes direct and intact from its long run to crowded houses at the Broadway theater, New York, and general acclamation has proclaimed this great work to be the worthy successor to "Ben Hur."

NEW KEITH THEATER.

With none of the old do do that attends the opening of a circus, but rather with dignity and decorum commensurate with the throwing open of the doors of a magnificent public building, there is to be a dedication in Columbus on Christmas eve, December 24. At this time the salary address is to be made across the footlights of the new Keith theater. Taking the walls of the old Empire as a location, wonders have been worked by an army of artists and artisans, and now all is in readiness for the American sovereigns, the people, to render their verdict. But there can be no doubt as to the outcome. Amidst quite elegance there is to be inaugurated a reign of that form of entertainment—vaudeville—which has grown to a rank of first importance under the management of that wizard whose name is now known the country over—B. F. Keith.

CURRENT THEATER NEWS.

New York is exhibiting the same favor toward the musical comedy "The Belle of Mayfair," which was given its first performance in that city on Monday night, December 3, as was shown this production during its preliminary road tour. Prominent in the cast are Irene Bentley, Christie MacDonald, Richard F. Carroll and Van Rensselaer Wheeler.

Lulu Glaser is shortly to produce a new piece entitled "The Arrow Club," written by Sidney Rosenfeld. She had at first planned to bring out shortly Paul Potter's new musical play, "The Beauty Shop." However, when she received the manuscript of "The Arrow Club," she became so enthusiastic that she arranged to bring it out at once.

The new piece which Clyde Fitch has been writing for Brancie Walsh has been completed. The title of "The Straight Road" has been bestowed upon it. Mr. Fitch wrote "The Woman in the Case," in which Brancie Walsh met with her widest favor from the general theater public some seasons ago. The new Fitch piece will be staged in New York at the Astor theater shortly after New Years.

Chicago is patronizing liberally Francis Wilson's production of "The Mountain Climber."

James K. Hackett who is being greeted with capacity audiences everywhere he offers "The Fall of Jericho," has concluded to retain that satirical comedy until late in the spring when he will bring out a new play.

The engagement of "Madame Butterfly" Puccini's grand opera, which has been rendered in English by the Henry H. Savage English grand opera company, in New York, has been extended two more weeks in that city. This will be the longest run enjoyed by any grand opera in America. After the termination of its engagement in New York, the production will be taken on the road.

George Broadhurst's new play, "The Man of the Hour," had its first performance in New York on Tuesday evening, December 4. This is the piece by George Broadhurst, which had made success in a preliminary trial on the road. It deals with the present day laxity in public affairs and is said to be a very effective drama. It was produced by Manager William A. Brady.

Eleanor Robson produced in New York the Clyde Fitch play "The Girl Who Has Everything," on Tuesday night. Regarding the play and the acting the New York Sun says: "It treats contemporary life with prevailing truthfulness and it has many moments of sentimental charm and sprightly comedy in Mr. Fitch's familiar vein. It is exquisitely acted, not only in the title part, but as a whole."

Charles Kleins new play, dealing to a certain extent with the capital and labor question "The Daughters of Men," is now in its fourth week in New York and seems to be attaining to a favor equalling that enjoyed by his other pronounced hit, "The Lion and the Mouse." Herbert Kelsey is achieving the special distinction by his depiction as a capitalist and Effie Shannon and Grace Filkins are likewise securing especial attention by their work.

Next season Mrs. Leslie Carter is to star in a modern American play dealing with such vital themes as those exploited in "The Daughters of Men," and "The Lion and the Mouse." This new play is by Chas. Klein, the author of those two notable successes. The rights to the play have been obtained by Charles Dillingham for Mrs. Carter.

Thos. W. Ross announces that he has found another "Checkers." He has a role in a new play which is said to equal the part of "Checkers," in which he won the great favor he now enjoys with the general theater public. This piece Mr. Ross will bring out at a very early date. Early in the season it will be recalled, Mr. Ross was starring in George M. Cohan's ill fated play "Popularity."

Paul Wilstack the advance representative for Richard Mansfield, is the author of the play in which Chas. Cartwright is to make his debut as a star next season. Mr. Cartwright is familiarly known to the general theatre public as a leading man of great ability. The title of Wilstack's drama is "Kennon's Pal."

Ezra Kendall has just completed a new comedy in which he will appear himself next season. He has named it "If I Were You," and he is said to have written a role in which he believes he will be able to achieve a triumph. The chief character, which will be impersonated by Mr. Kendall, is that of a country editor and publisher while possessing very little resource in money or riches, has an inexhaustible supply of genial philosophy. He takes a personal interest in the affairs of each of his subscribers, and they refer all questions whether of great or minor importance to him for decision.

Willie Collier is said to have provided himself with a hit in the new piece which he himself and Grant Stewart wrote, entitled "Caught in the Rain." This farce was brought out in Atlantic City on Monday night, and reports credit it with having much merit. Much of this is due to the fact, it is said, that the leading role provides every opportunity for the individual manner of Mr. Collier.

MUSIC has always been entertainment for man and beast. Orpheus with his lyre could subdue lions. But there has never been a time when it was so easy for everyone to have music as it is right now with the Edison Phonograph.

The beauty of the Phonograph is that it is everybody's plaything—not just yours and mine, but everybody's—good for the whole family and the stranger within the gates. It's an all-around household joy. You won't believe this unless you hear it, and you can hear it without any trouble. Go to any place where they sell it—there are several in this town—listen to it. after dark by a man and at the point the arm, inflicting a severe though not dangerous wound. The highwayman was unknown to Evans and no arrests have been made.

Marion, O., Dec. 15.—Stricken with paralysis while milking, Mrs. Jeremiah Jones, residing near Larue, O., crawled from the pasture to the barn
lot. Here a second stroke rendered er was drawn to the spot. Mrs. Jones can not recover.

Powder Explosion Rocks a Village.
Ignited by Spark.

Bluefield, W. Va., Dec. 15.—The explosion of 10,000 pounds of powder on three mine cars at Eckman caused the death of one person and the injury of nine others, two of them probably fatally. Joe Steele was killed. Alex Finney and Mrs. George Johnson were probably fatally injured. The men were on the powder cars and the woman was in a house near by. The powder was in this and was moved from a freight car to the magazine, when sparks from the motor wheels set it off. The houses near by were torn into splinters, and the detonation rocked the entire village. In a few moments hundreds had congregated to fight the fire which broke out. Some of the wounded were horribly burned.
Several of them lost their eyes, and the flesh hung in tatters from their bodies.

SUBMITTED TO MOODY

Will Be Question Brought Up at Chicago in Oil Case.

STATUS OF THE ELKINS ACT

Controversy as to the Time the Law Went into Effect—Culpability of Company Hinges on This Point.
District Attorney and Special Counsel Leave For Washington.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—United States
District Attorney Sims and Special Counsel J. H. Wilkerson will join Attorney General Moody in Washington for a conference on the Standard Oil cases. Their journey is the result of an order received here, and they will leave for the capital today.

Attorney General Moody's order for a conference is believed to be the outgrowth of a message which was sent to him several days ago by Mr. Sims.
When the first hearing of the cases was had a dispute arose as to the time the Elkins law went into effect.
Attorney John S. Miller for the Standard contended that this measure became effective as soon as it was signed by the president. Mr. Sims holds that it was a law only when it was filed in the office of the secretary of state.

The culpability of the oil company is said to hinge to a considerable degree upon this technical point, and Judge Landis suggested that the data concerning the measure be secured from Washington and that it be furnished to the court and to both sides of the controversy.

When Mr. Sims wired his chief for this proof, to be placed in the hands of the court, the reply was in the form of an order to appear in Washington. It is not believed that the two attorneys will return to the city until late next week.

PEONAGE CASE.

Fines and Imprisonment For the Men Convicted of Conspiracy.

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 15.—In the United States court Judge Swain passed sentence upon Manager W. S.
Harlan and five employees of the Jackson Lumber company of Lockhart, Ala., convicted after a trial of nearly a month of conspiracy to commit peonage. Manager Harlan was sentenced to serve 18 months in the penitentiary and in addition pay a fine of $5,000. Superintendent Robert Gallagher to serve 15 months and pay a fine of $1,000, and Dr. W. E. Grace, Oscar Sander, S. B. Huggins and C.
C. Hilton to serve 13 months in the penitentiary and pay fines of $1,000 each.

Awaiting Mexico's Reply.
Washington, Dec. 15.—The administration is awaiting patiently some reply to the representations made to the Mexican government regarding serious conditions in the Imperial and Colorado valleys in California, caused by the break in the banks of the Colorado river. Director Walcott of the government survey said that unless the break is repaired damage to property to an amount conservatively estimated at $13,000,000 ultimately will result. Lands susceptible to reclamation, the value of which is conservatively estimated at $70,000,000, also will be overflowed.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles—A Newark Citizen
Shows How to Cure
Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back, they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills.
It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Newark people testify to permanent cures.

Charles W. Cooper, employed at George Hermann's clothing store and living at 223 Hoover street, Newark, Ohio, says:
"Backache distressed me continually for a long time. There was a dull aching in the loins and my back was very weak. Besides this I had trouble with the kidney secretions which were irregular and disturbed my sleep at night. I was usually just as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. Nothing I could get seemed to help until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Crator's drug store. I had heard a great deal about the wonderful action of this remedy on the kidneys and bladder, but I was greatly surprised by the quick effect in my case.
I improved rapidly under the treatment until the pain in the back ceased and the action of the kidneys became natural. A few boxes made a complete cure."

AGED WOMAN IS ADJUDGED INSANE

An inquest of lunacy on Mary R.
Manning, an inmate of the Home for the Aged at Granville, was held by the Probate court. The testimony showed that she is very nervous and excitable, and that she is subject to delusions, in which she imagines that the management of the home is all wrong, and that her mission is to reform it. Her husband, who is a superannuated preacher, is also a member of the home. Mrs. Manning was adjudged insane and was taken over to Columbus Saturday and turned over to the officials of the State Hospital.

REVIEW OF TRADE BY DUN & COMPANY

New York, Dec. 15.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says: Holiday trade monopolizes attention, although there is a steady gain in distribution of winter goods as the temperature becomes more seasonable. Some irregularity is still noted in collections, attributed to high money rates or failure to market the crops. This would make the one adverse feature of the commercial situation, indirectly due to the three most striking evidences of national prosperity—scarcity of men, money, and railway facilities. There is little idle machinery at leading manufacturing plants, the urgency for quick delivery being most noticeable at steel and cotton mills, and all are well engaged.
Purchasers of pig iron for delivery during the last half of 1907 were reluctant to contract at present price.
Inability of cotton goods manufacturers to make deliveries is the controlling factor in the primary markets at the present time.

REGULAR

Are Declarations Made by Laymen.
Archbishop's Message.

Paris, Dec. 15.—Cardinal Richard has issued a communication which will facilitate a way out of the present church difficulty. This communication sets forth that declarations made by laymen relative to worship are not in disobedience to the instructions of the pope, provided their purpose is honestly to avoid disturbances, and admits that such declarations do not infringe upon the hierarchy, as the vatican has only forbidden clergymen to carry out the required legal formal-ties. This will permit of worship in accordance with the law, but in the meantime the church officially maintains its position of not submitting to the state.

Criticised Vatican's Policy.

Rome, Dec. 15.—Vatican officials declare that they have received many manifestations of sympathy from prominent Protestants. The names have not been given. The Giornale d'Italia says that Cardinal Lecot, archbishop of Bordeaux, is dissatisfied with the policy of the vatican and has strongly criticised what he terms the pope's "bad advisers." The cardinal is angry, the paper says, at the situation created by the inflexible intransigence of the pope. The words of Cardinal Lecot have been reported to the vatican, where an outbreak is feared, not against the pope, but against his entourage.
